

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Nations Around, by A. KEARY, is the latest addition to the handsome Sunday Library for Household Reading published by Macmillan & Co. It is a sketch of the early history of the great Eastern empires whose territories surrounded and sometimes included Palestine, and whose records recovered by the labors of modern scholars, throw so much light upon the Biblical narrative. Miss KEARY has made diligent and judicious use of the standard authorities on this subject, and produced an interesting and readable volume.

Hurd & Houghton's pretty edition of the writings of HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN now includes In Spain and A Visit to Portugal, the latter part of which has never before appeared in English, but he is a good-natured and chatty companion for a journey, and his powers of observation are keen enough to give interest and value to most of his chapters. The Visit to Portugal fills only a quarter of the volume, but it is to our judgment the most important quarter. Portugal being seldom visited by tourists, while Spain has often been described better by Mr. Andersen. The Spanish trip, of which this volume treats, was made in 1862; that through Portugal in 1866. There is not much to be said in praise of the translation of either part.

The publication of the XXXth number of Zell's Popular Encyclopedia completes the first volume, and brings the paper half way to its close. In the department which it professes to fill, it is the best book of reference with which we are acquainted. It does not attempt, of course, to relate facts with minuteness, or ability. It is better than an editor, but can be either, or both, as occasion requires. Address, Editorial Office, ALICE GRAHAM, 127 Nassau-st., New York.
